

CASE STUDY

AmeriPac, Inc.

SUMMARY

AmeriPac, Inc. is a fast-growing, American contract packaging and logistics company that has been operating for more than 30 years. AmeriPac implemented Nulogy at its two facilities in Texas and Pennsylvania to handle systems integrations with its customers and accounting software, as well as provide more accurate production data and create more streamlined quality control processes.

Company Overview

AmeriPac is a contract packaging and logistics company with two facilities in Texas and Pennsylvania. Since founding in 1989, AmeriPac has grown to more than 200 employees and 300,000 square feet of production and warehouse space. AmeriPac provides services across dozens of industries, including pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, and consumer goods.

Challenges

After experiences with manual workflows and a legacy system, AmeriPac was looking for a new system that could handle integrations with accounting and its customers. Additionally, AmeriPac was interested in a consistent, streamlined process for quality control.

The Results

Since implementing Nulogy, AmeriPac has recorded significant improvements in overall efficiency, accuracy, and reporting. For example:

- Nulogy's integration capabilities with AmeriPac's accounting software has reduced financial review process times from 2–3 days to 2 hours.
- AmeriPac's invoicing process has improved from a 5-day post-project window to 5 minutes using real-time, accurate labor and materials consumption data.
- Inventory accuracy improved from 97% to 99.5%, improving trust and confidence with customers.
- Nulogy's quality feature has enabled time-saving wins through digitized traceability and batch records capabilities.

With Nulogy, we're able to track products through the entire supply chain: from receipt to production to reconciliation, into inventory control on the logistics side. Without Nulogy, we wouldn't be perfect in every one of those categories.
